says: "Wagner and Gregg were evacuated by the rebels last night at 12 o'clock. Gen. Gillmore must be susigned the honor of another spleudid triumph. The engineers have done their duty faithfully and well. The stars and stripes now float over the for-tifications. Seventy prisoners, including a captain, surgeon and navy lieutenant, were on the captain and stripes now float over the for-tifications. CHRTIS, at the People's Drug Store, Major Sanford, of the 7th Connecticut.

Janesville, W.S.

1,24 d lm* The prisoners were endeavoring to push off in the boats from Gregg, and were intercepted by our men, who were also in boats. The guns in both forts were spiked, When our forces entered Wagner, a lighted fuse leading to the magazine was discovered and extinguished. A few moments more and a terrific explosion would have ensued. The guns found in Wagner consist of four naval howitzers, two siege howitzers, two Columbiads, two rifled pieces, three carronades, one siege mortar, and one field piece. In Gregg were found three mortars, two field pieces-making a complement of nineteen guns of various calibres in the two works. But two of the guns are in good condition. Most of them are completely and forever disabled.

The bomb-proof of Wagner has not been penetrated. Inside was discovered a man dying from wounds, and near nim two dead

The garrison, numbering 1,500 men, escaped in boats, with the exception of the persons above mentioned. The first intelligence we had of the evacnation was brought by three deserters, who came into our lines at I a. m. Numerous torpedoes are scattered over the premises, but as yet they have caused us no injury. The dead and mangled bodies of men and animals pave the causeway from Wagner to Gregg. The amount of ammunition left in Wag. ner and Gregg was considerable. Numerous fierce looking pikes, having books near the end, were fixed in the sand on the slopes of Wagner, for the purpose of resisting an assault.

Wagner and Gregg are each occupied by a regiment. There is no firing of any consequence at the present moment. The iron clads are in position to open on Sumter."

The Richmond Sentinel of the 8th says editorially: "The news received from Charleston yesterday tells of the evacuation of Battery Wagner, and the complete occu-pation of Morris Island by the enemy. Phis is a step toward success on the reduction of Charleston, but it is not success itself, nor does it by any means insure it. We understand that our officers in command there regard it as entirely practicable to defend Charleston without Morris Island, but while the enemy cannot force danger has much increased of its being battered down by their artillery. Charleston has neived itself for the trial, and the symmathics and prayers of a nation are exevinpathica and prayers of a nation are exhibited it its behalf. God grant her sale

MORE ABOUT MORRIS ISLAND.

Our forces do not occupy in force the captured rebel fortifications. It is represented that the rebel works will be of little use to Gen. Gillmore in his after operations. He can use the ground, which he is already doing in spite of the fire, and, when the new batteries are completed, sourcely a po sition in the harbor but will be commanded by his guns, while Charleston will be within easy shelling distance. The immediate fall of the city is not, however expected.

A novel mode of removing obstructions has been adopted by Gen. Gillmore, named the WEW AND POPULAR BOOKS Instorted, classical and Scientific Books School Books, and In fact dooks of every description, and in all styles of this duty. COMPLIMENT TO FEDERAL ARTILLERISTS. -In an account of the siege of Vicksburg, written by an English officer in the rebel service who participated in the defense of that great stronghold, and published in the Edinburg Scotsman, the following praise is bestowed upon the federal gunners:

"The enemy, who had access to all the appliances and improvements that science has invented to carry on modern warfare, can boast first class guns, the best of ammunition, and magnificent artillerymen. Beside this, they have everything they re quire in abundance, not to say profusion. For instance, whenever we dared to fire a shot from, say a 12 pounder howitzer, the enemy would concentrate upon it perhans ten to fifteen 20-pounder Parrott guns, and would maintain a fire of parhaps two or three hour's duration, throwing several hundred shot and shell into, around, or over the offending battery. They fired with the utmost precision, and they had attained such an excellent position, and such close proximity, that their rifled projectiles flew in many cases right through ten feet of earth, to strike and burst on whatever might be in the work. We had no resource but to run the guns out of the work to keep them from being disabled, and reserve them to fire canister or grape in the event of a charge being made. The writer says that Gen. Grant's first assault upon the fortifications of Vicksburg was directed against the strongest point and the freshest troops. When the siege began there were in Vicksburg but ten percussion caps per man.

The Morris Island Capture.

The New York Times has a long letter from Morris Island, Monday, 7th, which says: "Wagner and Gregg were evacuated by the rebels last night at 12 o'clock. Gen. Gillmore must be assigned the honor of another splendid triumph. The engineers have done their duty faithfully and well. The stars and stripes now float over the fortifications. Seventy prisoners, including a captain, surgeon and navy lieutenant, were captured by a party under command of Major Sanford, of the 7th Connecticut. The prisoners were endeavoring to push off in the boats from .Gregg, and were inter-cepted by our men, who were also in boats.

The guns in both forts were spiked The guns in note were space.

When our forces entered Wagner, a lighted fuse leading to the magazine was discovered and extinguished. A few moments more and a terrific explosion would have ensued. The guns found in Wagner consist of four naval howitzers, two siege howitzers, two Columbiads, two rifled pieces, three carronades, one siege mostar, and one field piece. In Gregg were found three morters, two field pieces-making a complement of nineteen guns of various calibres in the two works. But two of the guns are in good condition. Most of them are completely and forever disabled.

The bomb-proof of Wagner has not been penetrated. Inside was discovered a man dying from wounds, and near him two dead

The garrison, numbering 1,500 men, escaped in boats, with the exception of the ersons above mentioned. The first intelligence we had of the evacation was brought by three deserters, who ame into our lines at 1 a. m. Numerous torpedoes are scattered over he premises, but as yet they have caused

The dead and mangled bodies of men and animals pave the causeway from Wagner to Gregg.

The amount of ammunition left in Wagter and Gregg was considerable. Numerous fierce looking pikes, having hooks near the end, were fixed in the sand on the slopes of Wagner, for the purpose of resisting an assault.

Wagner and Gregg are each occupied by a regiment.

There is no firing of any consequence at the present moment. The iron clads are in position to open on Sumter."

The Richmond Sentinel of the 8th says editorially: "The news received from. Charleston yesterday tells of the evacuation of Battery Wagner, and the complete occupation of Morris Island by the enemy. This is a step toward succession the reduction of Charleston, but it is not success itself, nor does it by any means insure it. We understand that our officers in command there regard it as entirely practicable to defend Charleston without Morris Island, but while the enemy cannot force

MORE ABOUT MCRRIS ISLAND. Our forces do not occupy in force the captured rebel fortifications. It is represented that the rebel works will be of little use to Gen. Gillmore in his after operations. He can use the ground, which he is already points. Also leave Atton for Janesville at 3 p. m., on doing in spite of the fire, and, when the new batteries are completed, scarcely a po sition in the harbor but will be commanded by his guns, while Charleston will be within easy shelling distance. The immediate fall of the city is not, however expected. A novel mode of rectoving obstructions has been adopted by Gen. Gillmore, namely; the employment of rebel prisoners in this duty. It is justly supposed that the revels know quite as well, if not better, how to handle their own infernal machines, than do our own men, and their risks may possibly be less. Our soldiers and sailors are enthusiastically in favor of the new arrangoment.

COMPLIMENT TO FEDERAL ARTILLERISTS. -In an account of the siege of Vicksburg, written by an English officer in the rebel service who participated in the defense of that great stronghold, and published in the Edinburg Scotsman, the following praise is bestowed upon the federal gunners:

"The enemy, who had access to all the appliances and improvements that acience has invented to carry on modern warfare, can boast first class guns, the best of ammunition, and magnificent artillerymen. Beside this, they have everything they require in abundance, not to say profusion. For instance, whenever we dured to fire a shot from, say a 12 pounder howitzer, the enemy would concentrate upon it perhaps ten to fifteen 20 pounder Parrott guns, and would maintain a fire of perhaps two or three hour's duration, throwing several hundred shot and shell into, around, or over the offending battery. They fired with the utmost precision, and they had attained such an excellent position, and such close proximity, that their rifled projectiles flew in many cases right through ten feet of earth, to strike and burst on whatever might be in the work. We had no resource. but to run the guns out of the work to keep them from being disabled, and reserve them to fire canister or grape in the event of a charge being made.

The writer says that Gen. Grant's first assault upon the fortifications of Vicksburg was directed against the strongest point and the freshest troops. When the siege-began there were in Vicksburg but ten percussion caps per man.

strong ground in respect to the responsibili-

The "Rights" of the Rebels.

Gov. Seymourhas recently made a speech to his democratic brethren in Albany, and we think we never read so long a speech which had so little in it worthy of attention. It was all about "conciliation" towards the rebels and the "unconstitutionality" of something or other that the administration had done; but just what he would do to conciliate the rebels, or what particular measure of Mr. Lincoln's was unconstitutional, he did not tell his hearers. The nearest to anything practical which

what that means, and it is the first time a copperhead has made that recommendation to the rebels. They began the war and it is proper for them to stop it—to lay down their arms and come back to their allegiance to a government which never harmed | persistently represent themselves as loyal | most undoubted right to dictate to the rebthem until they rebelled. It is an excellent way to end the war, much better than to tell the government to withdraw its troops from the rebel states while the rebels themselves hold on to their arms and retain spirits of the democrats." They are right their hostile position in the field, as Val. on this point. The copperheads were nevlandigham and his followers recommend.

Now that the conservatives appeal to vancing northward, and the Union cause the rebels "to let the war cease," it is to be hoped they will listen. But if they do not, what then? Will Mr. Seymour continue to entreat them, and take no measure to compel them to keep the peace? We have been waiting these two years and a half for them to cease their warfare and submit to the constitution and laws, but they have kept on murdering our people, destroying their property, and causing the nation to sacrifice many thousand lives and expend wast sums of money that we may have peace in the land. Must we forever conciliate and beg these traitors and assassins [ficial reports will be confirmed, and Lincoln to stop their murderous work? The man whose whole policy consists in suppliestions and prayers to an armed foe, is not likely to succeed, but must either be spurned as a pitiful and cowardly opponent, or be considered as a "friend" in disguise, and such, no doubt, Jeff, Davis considers Gov. Seymour.

"We will protect your rights." This is the inducement offered. "We," the conservatives, will do this, if you will come back, says Seymour to the rebels. Now, what "right" has a rebel who has opposed his government with blood and slaughter for three years? We do not know of a single right left to him. He has forfeited his life and property. What more has he? There is, however, one fancied "right" which Seymour and the conservatives think little security they have from Lincoln for so sacred that no amount of criminality can the protection of their homes. It matters forfeit-and that is the assumed "right" to buy and sell men. It is, according to poses of permanent occupation, or simply clared in favor of the French invasion. their ideas, above the right to life and liberty. It is atrange that an American dem- from the subjugation of the confederate ocrat should so forget principle as to place states that the defence of Maryland and slavery above every human institution, but Pennsylvania has not yet been secured. it is this that Seymour will "protect" if these rebals will come back. The "conservatives," however, are not the law and the constitution. We are of the opinion that when these instrumentalities are inwoked all the slaves of rebels will be de- of Pennsylvania. This would react upon clared free, and that a rebel who has for the representatives in congress, strengthenfeited his life cannot own a slave.

The Duty of Loyal Men.

Messrs. Editors :- It is agreed by all who have the best interests of the country at that, in spite of all just indignation at the meant, that none but the truly loyal should manner of Gov. Salomon's defeat, we could have a voice in the reconstruction of our have a voice in the reconstruction of our partially dismembered nation.

To let the men who have, for the last two years, been striving with voice, and pen, and arms, to destroy the nation, dietate the terms upon which the seceded gence from Bragg's army reports it falling states shall return to the Union, would be the very height of madness. It would be surrendering to the enemy bound hand and foot; and virtually to throw away all that we have suffered and gained in this bloody contest. It would, in fact, be the success of the rebellion; for, to re admit the seceded states with their old constitutions and laws in full force and effect, would be to put the whole power of the government into the hands of its enemies, and enable those who now are, and for the past two years have been, doing all in their power with the course of the Herold, and that he to destroy the Union and establish a slave despotism in one half of it, to do just that same thing with the whole nation. I know that many good men consider the agitation of the question of reconstruction

as this time, as premature, and calculated to do harm rather than good; but I cannot see it in that light. On the contrary it is in my judgment just the time to enter upon its discussion. For, unless all the signs that usually foreshadow the collapse of desperate enterprises fail, this rebellion is fast approaching its end. With its territory cut in twain, its great navigable river entirely under our control; its seaports either taken or blockaded; its finances in disorder and its credit down to the lowest point; with bankruptcy staring it in the face, and its armies and its people demoralized, it cannot keep on its legs more than a year from this time at the longest. Then there important questions; shall the seceded states be readmitted with slave representation? Shall the men who have waged war against the government be permitted to expreise the elective franchise and the rights of holding office? will have to be met and acted upon; and I hold that it is our duty to prepare ourselves, by calm, temperate, and caudid discussion of them, to act rightly. Now, sirs, have the seceeded states, by their ordinances of secession, and their overt acts of treason, given the loyal prople of the loyal states, the right to dictate the terms upon which they shall reenter the Union? After having subdued them by force of arms, can we legally keep them in the condition of conquered province until such time as it may seem proper and safe, to us, to admit them to a participation in the government? If these are answered affirmatively then we have nothing to do but argue the policy of so doing; and answered in the affirmative they most certainly can be, for, unless reason and common sense be at fault, and the laws democratic party as their "friends" has that regulate nations without foundation been often asserted, but the copperheads either in justice or humanity, we have the and in favor of a "constitutional" war, | el states the conditions upon which, and The rebels look upon them as a "peace the time when, they shall be re-admitted to an equality with the loyal states in the ad-

The accounts from Mexico, which we publish this morning, do not represent the progreas made by the French in the subjugation of the country to be so considerable as may have been inferred from the reports of Gen. Forey and the statements of the of ficial press of France.

The liberal party has by no means given up the contest. The news that Comonfort graceful mismanagement and conduct of and Doblado had submitted to France is the war. Gen. ## Lord Russell on the Steam Rams.

The following is Lord Russell's reply to the committee of the Emancipation Society relative to the steam rams in the Mersey: Foreign Office, Aug. 12.

GENTLEMEN.-I have received your letter calling attention to a subject of very grave and pressing importance, namely, the fitting out or equipping two powerful iron plated steam rams, which I am informed are intended to commit hostilities against were coming in from Mantanzas and Car- the government and people of the United My attention has long been directed to these subjects. Both the treasury and home department have at my request, made most auxious inquiries upon the subject of these steam rams. You are aware that by the foreign enlistment act, a ship is liable to be detained, and the owners are subject to a penalty when the ship is armed or equipped for purposes of war, and the owners intend to use her against some state or community in friendship with her majesty. It is necessary to prove both the equipment and intention. It is necessary for conviction in a public court of justice, to have the evidence of a creditable witness. I was in hopes when I began to read your memorial that you would propose to furnish me with evidence to prove that the steam rams in question were intended to carry on hostilities against the government of the United States, but you have made no proposal of the sort, and only tell me that you are informed that so and so, and it is believed that so and so.

You must be aware, however, that according to British law, prosecution cannot be set on foot upon the ground of violation and delivered in any part of the city. of the foreign enlistment act, without the affidavit of creditable witnesses as in other

Gov. Seymour has recently made a speech to his democratic brethren in Albany, and we think we never read so long a speech which had so little in it worthy of attention. It was all about "conciliation" towards the rebels and the "unconstitutionality" of something or other that the administration had done; but just what he would do to conciliate the rebels, or what particular measure of Mr. Lincoln's was unconstitutional, he did not tell his hearers. The nearest to anything practical which this speech contains is the following:

"Whatever may be the course of the administration, it becomes the conservatives. to say to the south, 'Let the war ceasecome back to your allegiance-and we will protect your rights.' " "Let the war cease." We all understand what that means, and it is the first time a copperhead has made that recommendation to the rebels. Davis considers Gov. Seymour.

"We will protect your rights." This is the inducement offered. "We," the conservatives, will do this, if you will come back, says Seymour to the rebels. Now, what "right" has a rebel who has opposed his government with blood and slaughter for three years? We do not know of a single right left to him. He has forfeited his their timid and give confidence to their walife and property. What more has he? Supports the Whole Ticket.

The Milwankee Herold, a German republican paper, puts up the Union ticket, and, alluding to some remarks and speculations as to its probable course, and particularly to a communication published in the Illinois Staats Zeitung purporting to come from some republican advising it to oppose the Union ticket, defines its position as fol-

"In our first article respecting the result of the convention, we said in plain words that, in spite of all just indignation at the manner of Gov. Salomon's defeat, we could not afford to contribute to the triumph of the copperhead ticket; in the next number we repeated this declaration with the remark that if Gov. Salomon should be nominated by the Janesville convention we would place him at the head of the repubican ticket, if not, we should support Lews, and accordingly, Gov. Salomon not being a candidate before the Janesville convention, in order that the Ryan ticket may not succeed, we to day put up the whole republican Union ticket at the head of our

Senator Sumner on our Foreign Rela-tions.

Mr. Sumner delivered an address at Cooper Institute, New York, on Thursday evening last, on our foreign relations, which fills twenty-one columns of the New York Tribune. Of course it is too long for any paper outside of the city, and even a synopsis, such as we could publish, would give but a faint idea of the statements and arguments which it contains. The topics discussed were: "Our foreign relations, showing our present perils from England and France; the nature and condition of intervention by mediation; and also by recognition of a new power, with slavery as a corner stone; and the wrongful concession of ocean belligerency." Mr. Sumner took strong ground in respect to the responsibility of Great Britain for all damages inflicted on our commerce by the pirate ships fitting out in her ports. He appeals to the law and the testimony, and as Mr. Sumner stands by common consent at the head of our statesmen, so far as familiarity with foreign affairs and the laws of nations are concerned, his address will have a powerful effect at this time in settling public opinion at home and abroad on the topics discussed. Let all who can procure a copy of it and study it carefully, for the signs of the times indicate that the American republic is about entering upon a new path in its history in connection with foreign nations, and it is the duty of every citizen to so inform himself as to discharge his obligations to his country intelligently as well as patriotically.

A fall campaign into Pennsylvania, with the hands of our soldiers united-not for indiscriminate plunder, demoralizing and undisciplining the army, but a campaign for systematic and organized retaliation and punishment-would arouse the popular mind to the uncertainty and insecurity of Pennsylvania. This would react upon the representatives in congress, strengthening the democrats; and mollifying even hardshell functions itself. For the Januaville Dally-Gazotto. The Duty of Loyal Men.

Messrs. Editors :- It is agreed by all who have the best interests of the country at heart, that none but the truly loyal should have a voice in the reconstruction of our partially dismembered nation.

To let the men who have, for the last two years, been striving with voice, and pen, and arms, to destroy the nation, dictate the terms upon which the seceded states shall return to the Union, would be the very height of madness. It would be surrendering to the enemy bound hand and foot; and virtually to throw away all that we have suffered and gained in this bloody contest. It would, in fact, be the success of the rebellion; for, to re-admit the seceded states with their old constitutions and laws in fall force and effect, would be to put the whole power of the government into the hands of its enemies, and enable those who now are, and for the past two years have been, doing all in their power to destroy the Union and establish a slave despotism in one half of it, to do just that same thing with the whole nation.

I know that many good men consider the agitation of the question of reconstruction as this time, as premature, and calculated to do harm rather than good; but I cannot see it in that light. On the contrary it is in my judgment just the time to enter upon its discussion. For, unless all the signs that usually foreshadow the collapse of desperate enterprises fail, this rebellion is fast approaching its end. With its territory cut in twain, its great navigable river entirely. under our control; its seaports either taken or blockaded; its finances in disorder and its credit down to the lowest point; with armies and its people demoralized, it cannot keep on its legs more than a year from this time at the longest.

Then these important questions; shall the secoded states be readmitted with slave representation? Shall the men who have waged war against the government be permitted to exercise the elective franchise and the rights of holding office? will have to be met and acted upon; and I hold that it is our duty to prepare ourselves, by calm, temperate, and candid discussion of them, to act rightly.

Now, sirs, have the acceeded states, by their ordinances of secession, and their overt acts of treeson, given the loyal poople of the loyal states, the right to dictate the terms upon which they shall re-enter the Union? After having subdued them by force of arms, can we legally keep them in the condition of conquered province until such time as it may seem proper and safe, to us, to admit them to a participation in the government? If these are answered affirmatively then we have nothing to do but argue the policy of so doing; and answered in the affirmative they most certainly can be, for, unless reason and common sense be at fault, and the laws that regulate nations without foundation either in justice or humanity, we have the most undoubted right to dictate to the reban equality with the loyal states in the ad-

> "REPUBLICAN." French in Mexico.

The accounts from Mexico, which we publish this morning, do not represent the progreas made by the French in the anbjugation of the country to be so considerable as may have been inferred from the reports of Gen. Forey and the statements of the of ficial press of France. The liberal party has by no means given up the contest. The news that Comonfort graceful mismanagement and conduct of and Doblado had submitted to France is the war. Gen. Lee must turn politician as not confirmed, but it is, on the contrary reported that Doblado, with 4,000 men and $400,000, has started northward to procure recruits and purchase arms in California. Of the leaders of the church party, Miramon had declared his submission, and pronunciamentoes have andoubtedly, as French papers have asserted, taken place in several places along the coast, but we have as yet not heard that a single state had voluntarily renounced the national government and ranged itself on the side of the French. A look at the map of Mexico will at once show how absurd was the statement of a semi-official paper of Paris that all the states, with the exception of four, had declared in favor of the French invasion The French, as yet, bold only a part of three states-Vera Cruz, Puebla, and Mexico-and of one territory, Tlascala, whereas the number of the states and territories of the Mexican contederacy is twenty-five. The Mexicans intend to abandon, upon the approach of the French, the state of Guanainato (north-west of Mexico); but Gua dalajara, the second (or, according to other accounts, the third) city of the country having a population of over 60,000 inhabi tants, is being rapidly and extensively for-

Two successful expeditions are said to have been made by the French-the one to Tampico, a seaport town on the Gulf of Mexico, in the state of Tamanlinas, and the other from Pachucaf and Real del Monte to Tacallingo, all of which places but a trifle to the territory which is under end. Let the great and important fact be the rule of the French.

CAIRO, Sept. 14. The steamer Graham arrived last night with Memphis dates to the 12th. Intellirence from Bragg's army reports it falling back to the mountain range, 30 or 40 miles back of Chattanooga. It will make a stand there.

It was also stated that the whole of Johnston's force but one or two regiments had gone to reinforce Bragg. The new position is said to be much easier defended than the old one. A battle between the opposing forces is not likely to cour soon. Judge Robert L. Carathers has been "confederate" governor of Ten-MEMPHIS, Sept. 11.

Refugees that have lately arrived within our lines, bring exciting reports of the terrible condition of affairs in the southeast. One man that left Mobile on the 5th inst., states that there was a terrible riot of soldiera' wives in Mobile on the 4th instant. About 600 - women and children collected at Spring Hill, armed with clubs, knives and hatchets, and marched through the principal streets, carrying banners on which was inscribed, "bread or blood!" bread or peace," and other like inscriptions. Being soldier's wives, the proceedings were winked at by the soldiers, who made feeble resistance. Several stores were broken open; one merchant, a Jew, struck one of the women, and some policenen who were present, arrested the Jew, best him severely with their maces, and Many citizens left town, locked him up. among them this informant, who says the riot was increasing when he left.
